Runoff elections set for Tuesday

Runoff elections from the Aug. 3 primary are this Tuesday, Aug. 24.

Voters must cast their ballots for the parties for which they voted in the primary election. No "crossover" voting will be allowed.

A complete list of voter precincts and sample ballots are inside today's Echo.

Beach road to be closed

Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis will be closed to traffic from Main Street to the Murphy parking lot beginning at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The closure is to allow set-up for a 10 a.m. dedication of the Bay St. Louis Tercentenary Park next to Hancock Bank.

Main and Court streets will remain open north and south, and Beach Boulevard will be reopened after the ceremonies.

Hancock High open house set

The faculty and staff at Hancock Jr./Sr. High School are sponsoring an open house tomorrow, Monday, Aug. 23, from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Parents and students are invited to visit the school located at 7084 Stennis Airport Road during the open house to meet the teachers and learn more about upcoming activities in the 1999-2000 school year.

For more information, please contact Tammy Ehrlich at 255-0376.

Founding father

Workers from Hancock Bank, Coast Electric and the city of Bay St. Louis - along with Hancock County Historical Society President Charles Gray - prepare to set in place the long-awaited statue of Bay St. Louis founder Jean Baptiste Le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville at the new Tercentenary Park on Beach Boulevard in downtown Bay St. Louis Friday. Official dedication of the park and statue, along with a time capsule, will be Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Runoff elections heat up

Both parties set for close races

BY ED LEPOMA

Major attention in Tuesday's runoff elections will focus on the Democratic candidates running for sheriff, Hancock County tax assessor-collector and supervisor of District Five.

There is only one undecided nominee in the Republican runoff. Diamondhead businessman James K. "Ken" Overstreet will try to overcome a 342-vote lead that Diamondhead freelance writer Dave Koger piled up in the Aug. 3 primary election for the District 46 state senate seat.

Koger led 998 to 656, but Kiln businessman Johnny Richard forced the runoff, taking 427 votes.

The Republican nominee will face incumbent Democrat Scottie Cuevas of Pass Christian in the November general election.

In the sheriff's race, five-term incumbent Democrat Ronnie Peterson will try to defeat primary leader Steve Garber.

Bicycle, police car in collision

BY GEOFF BELCHER

Officers of the Mississippi Highway Patrol are still investigating an incident Friday in which a bicyclist apparently collided with a Bay St. Louis police car.

Assistant Bay St. Louis Police Chief David Stepro said Friday that a vehicle driven by Officer O'Neil Adams and a man riding a bicycle collided at a little after 1 p.m. Friday at Highway 90 and Dunbar Ave., but said the investigation is being conducted by the MHP, standard procedure when an officer is involved. MHP information officer Sgt. Joe Gazzo was unavailable for comment Friday.

Neither the identity nor condition of the bicyclist had been released at press time.

Hancock, Harrison could get reservoir

BY ED LEPOMA

Gulfport Councilman Sam Albritton this week won the backing of Hancock County supervisors after asking them to support a Harrison County reservoir that would serve both coastal counties for years to come.

Albritton said while Jackson County has a backup plan to ensure a fresh water supply, Harrison and Hancock County have none. "The Coast is too dependent on water wells," Albritton said.

He said latest estimates are the water table in both counties is dropping two feet a year because of the increase in population and commercial growth in the two counties.

Albritton said the reservoir was envisioned in 1930, and could have been built by the Tennessee Valley Authority, but now the plan is for congressional funding of up to $12 million.

Tax plan in works

BY ED LEPOMA

If the mayors of the two cities agree to it, people who live in Bay St. Louis and Waveland could pay their delinquent property taxes at one quick stop.

At Monday's meeting of the supervisors, Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar said if the two mayors sign an agreement, his office would begin collecting delinquents, and the county would receive a two percent fee.

Pass cops, club agree on range

BY ED LEPOMA

The Pass Christian Police Department and a local gun club have agreed on rules and regulations to be followed when private citizens use the recently completed police shooting range off Espy Avenue.

At Tuesday's meeting of the mayor and board of aldermen, Chief John Dubois said the terms were agreed upon that will allow the general public, including gun club members, to use the facility in the daytime each Tuesday and Thursday.

Plant worries Pass residents

BY CHRIS VICKERY

About 125 concerned residents from Pass Christian and Long Beach turned out last week to complain about a new plant that recently opened off Espy Ave. in Harrison County's Industrial Park.

The citizens also oppose a proposed land exchange deal between Conrad Yelvington Distributors and the Harrison County Development Commission.

Nearby residents Henry Kinney and Jeff Taylor of Long Beach organized the meeting at the West Harrison County Civic Center and said they want some restrictions placed on Yelvington's operations in order to "protect property values and the Coast way of life."

Yelvington, which stockpiles and distributes crushed stone, is located on a 31-acre tract fac-

Bay relative needs transplant

Joey Delaski and his grandmother in 1992 at the Navy/Tulane baseball game in New Orleans.

Haas family needed for bone marrow testing

Joey Delaski has always been special to his family. Not because he always excelled at academics and sports while doing countless hours of community service in places like Saltillo, Mexico, but because his is Joey — a cherished son, brother, grandson, nephew and cousin.

Joey, 26, is the son of David and Ann Haas Delaski of Jackson and the grandson of Gladys and the late Vernon Haas of Kiln. The majority of his relatives live in Hancock County.

After graduating in 1995 from the U.S. Naval Academy, where he pitched for the Navy baseball team, Joey was diagnosed with leukemia. While a devastating blow to him and his family, he overcame the disease after a year of painful and intense treatment at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

He came home from Jackson to recuperate and has been in remission while residing with his family for three years. At the end of this month, he was registered to begin the MBA program at Millsaps College's Else School of Management.

Last week, at a routine three-month checkup, Joey's blood was tested, revealing that leukemia had once again returned, even worse than before. The only option for successful treatment at this juncture is a bone marrow transplant. The best option for matching bone marrow is usually a sibling. However, in Joey's case, his only sister is not a match.

One option is to find a donor in the National Marrow Donor Program Registry, a network for people from all over the world who have registered to be volunteer bone marrow donors. They receive no compensation for this donation.

Every 24 hours all patients in need of bone marrow transplants are run through this international computer network to search for potential matches. While it is possible that a bone marrow match may occur with a stranger, the best and most likely donors are genetic relatives, even distant. Bone marrow transplant using genetically linked blood have a distinctly higher success rate. All of Joey's Mississippi relative live on the Coast, the majority in Hancock County. At this time, his family asks that all people related to the Haas family undergo a simple blood test to determine bone marrow compatibility to be a possible donor for Joey. While they realize that it is an imposition, desperation forces this request.

If you are a Haas or Haas relative, even distant, and would consent to being tested for bone marrow compatibility with Joey, please contact Kay Cerisier at 255-7730 or Jeane Haas after 6 p.m. at 255-9840 for information.

Ansley residents concerned about response on fire damages

BY ED LEPOMA

Two Ansley families are claiming damage from a large woods fire started by sparks from the wheels of a locked train coming out of the Port Bienville Industrial Park last May, and they are frustrated by delays in settling their claims.

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors met Monday and heard first-hand stories from Violet Siewert, who lives off Lower Bay Road, and neighbors Marty and Pattie Sahuque, whose home is off Petite Acres Drive.

Siewert told supervisors the fire occurred the afternoon of May 14, but it wasn't until June 9 that an insurance adjuster was sent from a Mobile office to survey the damages.

Siewert told supervisors her house suffered smoke damage, causing her to throw out mattresses, and clean clothing and drapes.

"My house was a brand new home — only a year and a half old," she said.

In addition, Siewert claimed her husband has lung and asthma problems, has been hospitalized several times since the incident, "and hasn't been able to sleep in his own bed for three months."

Pattie Sahuque said the inside of her home didn't suffer damages, but timber in the yard that was to be sold, burned up, and there was damage to her fence and to a tractor, boat and other equipment in the yard.

Both women complained that they seemed to be getting the run-around from the insurer and the Port and Harbor Commission.

Siewert said, P&H attorney Robert Genin was among those who came to her house on August 2, and told her to get an estimate of damages.

Sahuque told the Echo later that the hang-up seems to be that the claim cannot be settled until the P&H pays the first $25,000 deductible.

Siewert complained that one offer to settle amounted to only 18 percent of her estimated damages.

County attorney Gerald Gex said, legally, the P&H is responsible for settling any alleged damages up to its deductible, and instructed officials to reopen negotiations between the claimants and the port's insurer.

He told Siewert and the Sahuques if they were not pleased with the ultimate settlement they have the option to sue in Circuit Court.

Gex asked the P&H to re-evaluate all claims after he learned there might be up to five families in the vicinity which incurred damages.

Sahuque said others claiming damage from the May fire should contact the P&H offices at 467-9231.

Supervisors seek move to Corps Vicksburg District

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors wants all of the county included in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Vicksburg District.

At their meeting Monday, supervisors agreed to send a resolution supporting the change to U.S. Sen. Trent Lott, the Senate's Majority leader.

The Board took the action at the request of Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission after Executive Director Hal Walters outlined the problem.

Walters explained that parts of Hancock County lie within the jurisdiction of the Corps'

Mobile District while other sections come within the realms of the Vicksburg District.

He said the problem affects not only the Port Bienville Industrial Park, but also the Hancock County School District, the Hancock Sewer and Water District, and the city of Waveland.

"It results in permit delays, and ultimately delays in infrastructure improvements," said Walters.

He said the Corps' Mobile office is generally backlogged, handling almost twice as much business as the Vicksburg office.

Walters said the split in authority might ultimately affect the progress of the technology park that the Port and Harbor plans to build at the Stennis Space Center with state bond funds.

Before the vote, District 4 Supervisor noted that supervisors have enjoyed a good working relationship with the Mobile office, which has sometimes funded 100 percent of seawall repairs.

But, Seymour eventually sided with other supervisors, and the resolution supporting the change to the Vicksburg District was approved unanimously.

Plant -- Pass residents worried

ing Espy Avenue, and it is not yet running full steam, but Kinney and Taylor said residents have already complained about increased tractor-trailer traffic, excessive noise and the threat to nearby property values.

Kinney and Taylor urged citizens to petition elected officials and the Development Commission to stop the land exchange or place "reasonable" restrictions on Yelvington to create a "win-win" situation for all parties.

Kinney stated that a portion of Yelvington's property is occupied by wetlands, and the Development Commission is working with the company to exchange some adjacent property.

Michael Olivier, executive director of the Development Commission, confirmed his board "has agreed to exchange 12 acres of land owned by the Development Commission for up to 18 acres of land owned by Yelvington."

"Right of entry has been issued to Yelvington, but the sale of the land will not be consummated until the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has completed an assessment," Olivier said. Yelvington has already moved part of a large conveyor system onto the land in question.

Outgoing Harrison County Supervisor David LaRosa listened and commented on concerns raised by citizens, but he did not commit to putting restrictions on Yelvington. LaRosa said he also lived near the plant, and he wanted more information from the Board of Supervisors' attorney and the Development Commission before he made any firm commitments.

In a telephone conversation after the meeting, Olivier told the Echo, "Yelvington has agreed to cease operations at 6 p.m. unless an unforeseen rail car delivery is made. Yelvington has no control over the rail car delivery schedule, but it should not be made too often at night," he added.

Olivier added, "The Development Commission is sensitive to these concerns, but the residents in this area must realize that it is an industrial park, not strictly an office park."

He said the Commission would continue to look at companies that could occupy space in the area.

"Within reason, we try to be selective when looking at companies to do business with," said Olivier.

He said other requests made by citizens might not be as easy to resolve.

Olivier said a request to re-route the truck entrance could cost up to $200,000. He said complaints regarding the lighting of the crane may take time because the Federal Aviation Administration requires lighting of the equipment due to its height.

Oliver said some traffic rules governing the large trucks are already in place, and can be enforced by police officials.

Officials from Yelvington were not invited to the meeting Monday night, but Taylor said he hoped to meet soon with them and Development Commission members. No immediate date was set, however.

"We would have preferred that the company never have been allowed to open, but since it is here, we are asking for some type of reasonable accommodation," said Taylor.

Range

Dubuisson held a meeting July 26 with Gordon Burton, the president of the Pass Christian Gun Club, and club treasurer, Dayton Robinson, and worked out details.

• Important to the agreement was a stipulation, agreed to by the gun club, that all club members must have attended a safety class before they will be admitted to the firing range.

Classes are now available through the Gulfport Police Department and will be taught at a later date by Pass Christian police.

• A maximum of 20 club members will be allowed to use the shooting range on any one day, and shooting will be allowed only between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. No observers are allowed on the range during shooting time, and no pets are allowed.

• A list of shooters must be provided in advance to the range officer.

• All gun members must be at least 21 years of age, and only 45 millimeter hand guns and shot guns will be allowed. No rifles are allowed.

• Targets are to be supplied by the Pass Christian Gun Club.

• No competition is allowed with other gun clubs.

• All shooters must wear ear plugs and protective eye goggles.

• The range officer is to be advised in advance of the club's desire to use the facility.

• If a range officer is not on normal duty, the gun club will pay to have him stationed at the range.

Burton and Robinson were given copies of the rules and regulations governing conduct at the shooting range and were advised to distribute copies to members of the gun club.

Members agreed to obey all range rules and the decision of the range officer.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The big day for Bay St. Louis will be Wednesday with the celebration of the Tercentenary Park.

The Hancock County Historical Society has been making preparations for this event for most of the past year, and much time and effort has been given to this major project.

Three hundred years is a very long time, so this is a tremendous celebration for the residents of the City of Bay St. Louis.

Activities begin at 10 a.m. at the Tercentenary Park, 102 Beach Boulevard next to Hancock Bank, Bay St. Louis.

Historical Society members and others guests are then invited to the Loblano House, Cue St., next to the Hancock County Courthouse, for hors d'oeuvres and punch.

Some 300 years ago Native Americans saw large ships probably like nothing they had seen before this enter the Bay of Saint Louis, and I wonder what they were thinking.

Since Native Americans traveled only in canoes. I am sure those large boats must have been something for them to see.

Friday morning a Coast Electric Power Association truck lifted the bronze statue of Jean Baptiste LeMoyne deBienville into place at the Tercentenary Park next to Hancock Bank.

Make yourself a note as a reminder so you will make the big celebration on Wednesday.

We plan on being there, and we hope you can make it, too.

Tuesday is the big run-off day to settle several primary nominees for the November General Election.

There are key races still to be settled, so all Democratic and Republican voters need to make sure they go to the polls and cast their ballots.

Every vote is very important, so make sure you make yours count.

Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

If you voted for one party in the first primary, remember, you cannot vote in the other's run-off on Tuesday. In other words, if you voted Republican or Democratic in the first primary, you cannot vote the other's party ballot in the run-off.

There were some 50% of the registered voters who failed to cast their ballots in the first primary, hopefully there will be a larger turnout Tuesday.

Call your relatives, neighbors and friends and remind them that Tuesday is election day.

The ladies were really climbing the chairs at Union Planters Bank on Thursday evening after closing hours.

They had an uninvited guest drop in to make a deposit, or maybe cool off a bit.

The guest was one of those creatures that cling close to the ground, a snake, and branch manager Basil Kennedy was out at the time.

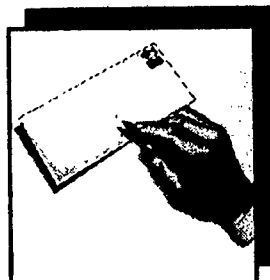

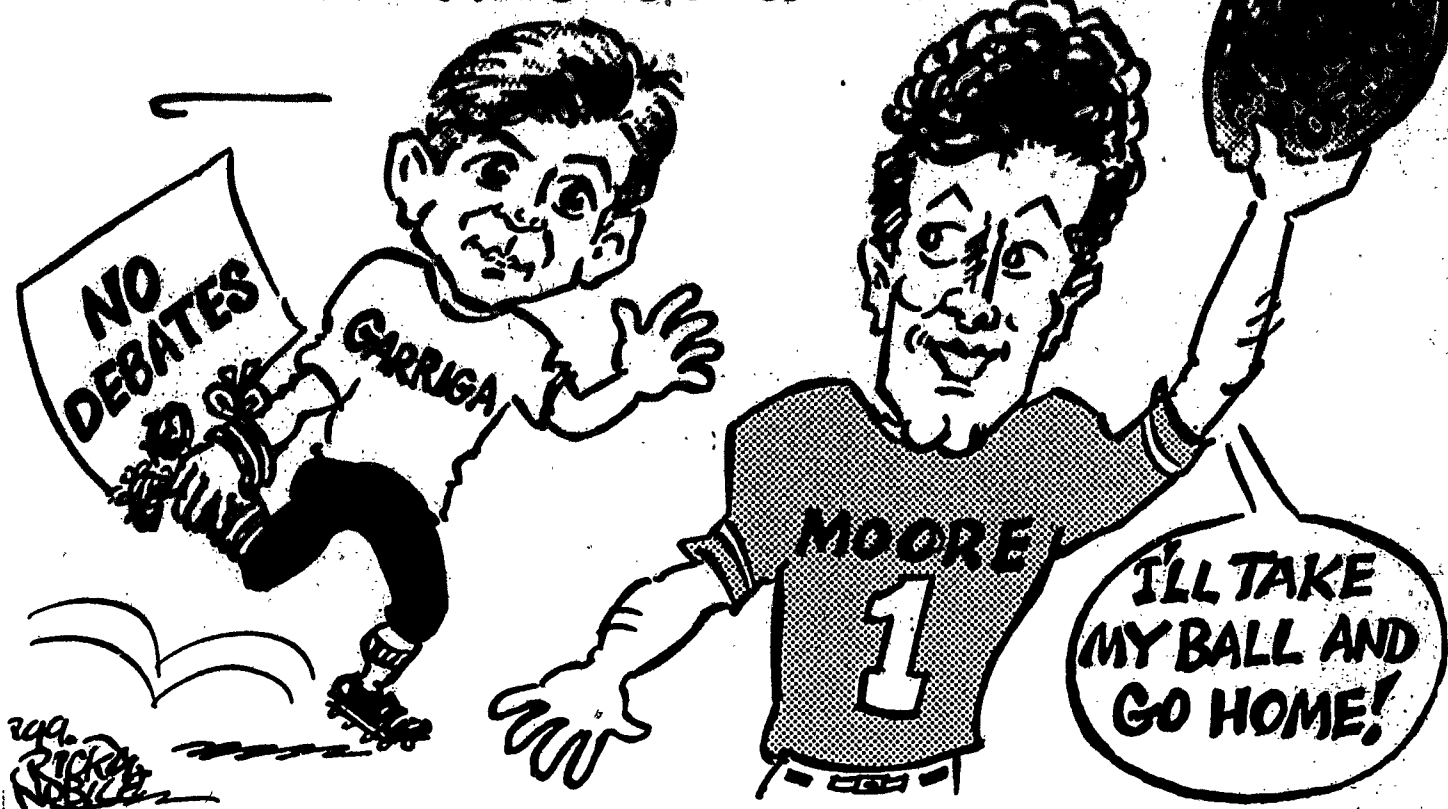

Needless to say, the ladies had to seek assistance from the Bay Police Department, which they really appreciated as the Bay's dog warden was unavailable.

I have a feeling that even if Basil would have been there, help would have still had to be summoned.

I won't mention their names, but several of the ladies reported they had trouble sleeping Thursday night.

I guess police received all types of calls like we do at the newspaper.

PLAYING BY HIS RULES

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Friend of victims wonders, how many lives have to be lost before crossings are addressed?

Dear Editor:

I am a resident of Spanish Acres in Bay St. Louis and very few things amaze me much less surprise me.

Yet, something that does is that through many subdivisions and residential roads the speed limit for cars and other automobiles range from 15 to 35 miles per hour.

However, a train, if it is running at 35 mph, takes approximately 3,000 feet to come to a complete stop. That is the equivalent of 1,000 yards the length of 10 football fields.

Yet, the trains can run through our residential areas at speeds of 50 miles or more per hour.

Now, that fact aside this is not a letter on getting speed limits increased, though the trains could run a little slower. On Saturday, Aug. 14, three young lives came to a tragic end.

This took place around 8 p.m. just when it starts to get dark. It was not only due to the speed the train was going, but also poor road conditions and no signals at these particular tracks.

When Cecile, Sean and Joe Joe were hit at the tracks on Webb Street in Bay St. Louis, they were going toward Central Avenue. Now, anyone who has ever gone over these particular tracks will know that not only do they not have the arms that come down or flashing lights to signal an oncoming train, but they also have trees to the point that your front tire is practically on top of the track before you can see a train. This was the case with Cecile.

The track also has a 12- to 14-inch drop and once Cecile was on the track her back tire fell off the incline, and the car was stuck.

Three nights ago Joe Joe's parents buried him. As I stood over the coffins of Cecile and her younger brother Sean, I could hear a funeral home filled with other children ranging from seven and up and adults weeping and mourning the loss of these three innocent children.

My little sisters played with Sean. My older sister and I grew up with Ceci as close friends and family called Cecile. Sean and Joseph were only 12 and Ceci was only 21. If you or your kids went to either Bay St. Louis or Waveland schools they more than likely knew them.

So, I ask myself, "Could these three deaths have been prevented?" Before the question even comes completely to mind I already have an answer. You see, Joseph's mother and father lost their only son. Ceci and Sean's mother lost her only two children.

Sean's father lost his only child, and Ceci's father lost his daughter and grandson who was Joe Joe.

"How many lives have to be lost before these crossings are cleared of trees, get flashing lights or arms and are actually save for the public to drive over?"

My family's and my own deepest sympathies go out to the many friends and family members who so dearly loved and were touched by the lives of these young innocent children.

Sincerely,

Cathaline A. Tillman
Bay St. Louis

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Mississippi water resources

It is not obvious, but Mississippi is almost surrounded by water. Of course our Gulf Coast immediately comes to mind along our southeasternmost points, but immediately to its west lies the Pearl River.

Our westernmost boarder is made up by the mighty Mississippi, from which our state takes its name, and to the north and east lies the Tenn-Tom Waterway and the Tombigbee River, which closely parallels Mississippi's border on its course back to Mobile Bay and the Gulf of Mexico.

On top of that, our state's heartland is full of rivers and reservoirs. As you can imagine, water resources are important to many Mississippians. This is why I support the Water Resources Development Act (WRDA).

As a whole, the U.S. Senate has also recognized WRDA's importance and passed it. Now we await House action.

Mississippi's water resources have been the catalyst for her development since the 1690s, when early French settlements along the water began growing into some of our state's major cities, like Biloxi, Pascagoula and Natchez.

Mississippi was one of the few states settled from southland west to east, primarily because of the Gulf and Mississippi River.

Cities like Vicksburg, Greenville and Yazoo City sprang up along navigable rivers -- a sort of natural equivalent to our modern-day interstate system.

In the East, communities like Columbus later became ports of call for travelers along the Tombigbee. Today these arteries continue to play a major role in our state's life.

Three-hundred years after the French began building ships along the Pascagoula River, this area continues to be home for a lucrative shipbuilding industry.

WRDA contains authorization for maintenance dredging of this harbor and new dredging to accommodate expansion of the Fried-Goldman shipbuilding facilities there.

Meanwhile, various man-made reservoirs created for flood control are not only a source for fresh water in our cities, but also the fuel for residential and recreational development which is still occurring.

Here too, WRDA relates. It contains authorization to stabilize water levels at Tunica Lake. This project served two purposes: environmental preservation as well as the retention of jobs which have grown around the camping and fishing opportunities in the lake.

WRDA is certainly not limited to keeping our ports, rivers and reservoirs in good shape. Take the DeSoto County Wastewater Treatment Program. This project which I hope to add to the final WRDA product seeks too improve wastewater treatment facilities in one of the nation's fastest growing counties.

Because the area is expanding so rapidly, experts believe without additional wastewater infrastructure, this economic and residential growth could be hindered.

Then there is the Jackson County Industrial Water Supply Pipeline project. Jackson County is our state's most industrialized county. WRDA contains authorization to tap and deliver a new water supply.

This pipeline, parts of which are already under construction, will enable industries, and eventually residents, access to a safe, ample supply of water that will last for generations.

WRDA also contains funding for Tennessee Tombigbee Waterway Wildlife Mitigation. U.S. taxpayers spent billions financing the construction of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

Since connecting the extreme portions North Mississippi and Tennessee to the Gulf of Mexico, the Tenn-Tom has become vital part of Mississippi's economy and is another seed for job creation.

WRDA would help obtain 9,000 acres from willing sellers to provide the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) with areas away from the Tenn-Tom that are ready for wildlife development.

These areas, open to the public, will replace certain properties along the Tenn-Tom that are not optimal for environmental development, but which are fine for economic development. With this emphasis on better land usage, Mississippians can begin to reap the full benefits of their investment in Tenn-Tom.

Like so many Mississippians who grew up around the water, I saw first-hand how it sustains our lives.

We drink it, play in it, wash with it, work around it and use it for transportation.

We must develop our water resources, and preserve them. This is a difficult, but attainable balance.

WRDA is a vital part of this balance.

Technicalities

By State Auditor Phil Bryant

COUNTIES

Q May property be redeemed from the tax sale one year at a time or must all tax years not paid be redeemed together at the same time prior to the maturity date?

A Property sold to an individual may be redeemed from the tax sale one year at a time ($27-45-3).

However, property sold to the state may be redeemed only after paying all taxes for which it was sold, damages, costs and all subsequently accruing state, county or other taxes due on it up to and including the year of redemption, if the county taxes have been levied at the date of redemption.

($27-35-63 and Attorney General's opinions to McLeod dated June 11, 1999, and Batey dated Nov. 1, 1996).

Note: This modifies the Auditor's Office position published in April, 1999, Technicalities.

Q Are professional services such as aerial photography and mapping services subject to the bid law?

A Yes. Section 27-35-101 requires that services for surveys and appraisals in connection with tax purposes must be subject to competitive bids after at least 30 days published notice.

Aerial mapping and ownership mapping for tax purposes are included under that requirement. (Attorney General's opinion to Norquist dated May 24, 1979)

Q May a tax collector refuse to accept a check in payment for taxes?

A Yes. We are aware of no statute that required a tax collector to accept checks.

BE SURE TO VOTE
TUESDAY!
Polls Open 7 a.m. - 7 p.m.

ELECT
CAROLINE

TAX ASSESSOR/COLLECTOR

TO THE VOTERS OF HANCOCK COUNTY!

THANK YOU, Hancock County for your tremendous vote and support during the first primary, for this I am EXTREMELY grateful.

Now with the upcoming second primary, once again, I need your vote and support.

On August 24th you will go to the polls to elect a NEW tax assessor/collector. PLEASE check the qualifications of the two candidates very closely BEFORE YOU VOTE.

The newly elected tax assessor/collector will take office in January 2000 right in the middle of collecting 1999 taxes.

The tax office in the year 2001 will be charged with the responsibility and accountability of managing a mandatory state wide re-appraisal. There can be NO margin for error when it comes to managing your tax dollars.

CAROLINE MAURIGI ADAM has 14 years experience to manage this responsibility.

Caroline wants to be your next tax assessor/collector, and can be, and this is why:

I am a Mississippi State Certified Appraiser.

I am NOW your deputy tax assessor.

Your tax office is completely computerized-as a computer systems operator-my experience has allowed me to fully understand and maintain all of YOUR tax information for 14 years. (This is the heartbeat of the county).

Your homestead exemption and county wide mapping needs are very important to you-I have the experience to help you.

I have made NO political promises during my campaign.

Remember-Your tax assessor collector MUST be responsible and accountable for the office-I CAN, with 14 years of experience.

I am the candidate with experience and qualifications to do the job for you, the citizens of Hancock County.

Please vote for CAROLINE MAURIGI ADAM FOR TAX ASSESSOR/COLLECTOR OF HANCOCK COUNTY #109 ON THE BALLOT.

Hancock County Law Enforcement

Vote:
Steve Garber-Sheriff

- Experienced
- Qualified
- Dedicated

For a new era of Law Enforcement that is respectful of the public and concerned about the victims of crime.

I will begin with the following:

1. Sector out county patrol units to reduce response times and increase patrolling in your neighborhood.
2. Do more to better educate our children on the hazards of the use of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco.
3. Aid, assist, and improve working relations with local, state, and federal drug enforcement agencies.
4. Do everything possible to protect your children whether at home, school or in the community.
5. Make resources available to better train and educate our law enforcement officers.
6. Do more to stop the littering on our roads and highways.
7. Promote equal and fair law enforcement for everyone.
8. Implement work program for prisoners.
9. Do more to solve crimes of thefts and robberies (currently less than 1 % solve and conviction rate).
10. Keep you the victim apprised as to the status of any case concerning you or your family.

I hope you are as concerned about these issues as I am. As a family man I will, when elected use every talent I possess to improve safety, respond to your needs and make myself available to you and have an open door to the Sheriff's office.

Please give me the opportunity to be your Sheriff and work to get these and many other things done that are needed in Hancock County.

Bay St. Louis an Indian village before Bienville

Editor's note: A Golden Jubilee Edition of The Sea Coast Echo was published in 1962 with Charles G. Moreau, the Echo's founder as publisher. The following article was contributed for the Golden Jubilee Edition by Rev. Leo F. Fahey of Bay St. Louis, who was later ordained as a Bishop at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Bay St. Louis.

By Rev. Leo F. Fahey
Long before the advent of the French explorers, the City of Bay St. Louis was in Indian village bearing the name of Chicapa. Here the primitive children of the Choctaw-Muskogean family lived in a veritable happy hunting ground, for the creator gave this Gulf Coast a special touch of beauty; and to supply the needs of His people, He filled the waters with abundant fish and the forests with plentiful game.

In all probability, Robert Cavalier de la Salle was the first white man to explore this part of the coast.

According to Jacques de la Metairie, the official historian of this expedition, La Salle descended to the mouth of the Mississippi River; and on April 7, 1682, he went to reconnoiter the shores of the Gulf of Mexico. (1) In 1688, Tonti the Faithful friend of LaSalle came as far as the Gulf to seek tidings of his lost leader. On this trip Tonti examined the coast 30 leagues towards Mexico and 25 leagues towards Florida. (2)

When Pierre le Moyné d'Iberville came to plant the Fleur de Lis of France on the Gulf Coast, the historian tells us: "On the 12th of April, 1699, d'Iberville set out to visit a bay about nine leagues from Ship Island, to which he gave the name St. Louis. But finding the water very shallow there, he concluded to fix his settlement at Biloxi. (3)

1. Mississippi The Heart of the South, Rowlands, Vol. 1, p. 129
2. Mississippi, Province, Territory, State, Claiborne, p. 16
3. Historical Collections of La. French, Vol. 3, p. 15

This, however, was just a casual visit to sound the depths of the water, and it remains for his brother, Jean Baptiste le Moyné Bienville, to set foot on the land and give it the present name.

Let us read the account of this event as described by Penicault, the journalist from the frigate Le Marin: "We shortly afterwards found a beautiful bay, about one league in width by four in circumference, which was named Bay of St. Louis, because it was on the day of St. Louis we arrived there.

"We hunted there three days and killed 50 deer." ... "The writer describes a trip up the Mississippi River, and on returning he writes: "Next day we camped at the entrance of Bay St. Louis near a fountain of water that flows down from the hills, which Moyné Bienville named Belle Fontaine. (1) We hunted several days around this bay and filled our boats with venison, buffalo and other game. (2) According to this evidence it is safe to say that Bay St. Louis was discovered and named by Bienville on the Feast of St. Louis, Aug. 25, 1699.

1. Belle Fontaine is now called Pine Hills.
2. Mississippi, Claiborne, p. 20.

These first visits of d'Iberville and Bienville established a happy precedent, and soon colonists from Biloxi found their way to this land of plenty.

The Hon. J. F. H. Claiborne, author of Mississippi as a Province, Territory and State, was well acquainted with the history of Bay St. Louis; for he lived for years on a plantation a few miles south of the Bay, now called Claiborne, Miss.

In an address delivered at Bay St. Louis, July 4, 1876, to commemorate the centenary of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Claiborne said: "In December of the same year, 1699, d'Iberville placed a few families here in (Bay St. Louis) with a sergeant and 15 men, in a small fort, near where the Toulme Mansion (Judge Chandler's) now stands."

(1. Toulme Mansion was located on the beach between Carroll Avenue and DeMontluzin Street, Where Dr. C. L. Horton now resides).

On Jan. 3, 1721, two ships, La Gironde and La Volage arrived with about 300 persons for concessions of M. LeBlanc and Court Bellville on the Yazoo River, and Madame Mezieres of the Bay of St. Louis, and Madame Chaumont on Pascagoula Bay.

From the record of land grants it would appear that the colony of Madame Mezieres settled on a 17,084 acre grant north of Felicite Street. The colonists sent over by d'Iberville and Madame Mezieres were the pioneer settlers of Bay St. Louis.

During this period the "filles a la cassette" or Casket Girls, arrived from France. These women were imported to furnish brides for the colonists.

Some were sent by force, others came willingly; some were of questionable morals, others were of irreproachable character.

Each young lady, carrying a trousseau packed in a little chest, anxiously waited as the representative of the Ursulines arranged a suitable marriage.

The descendants of the Casket Girls are still found on the Gulf Coast of Mississippi.

The treaty of Paris, Feb. 10, 1763, brought to an end the long fight between France and England for supremacy in North America. The Most Christian King of France ceded to His Britannic Majesty, the Mississippi River, the Port of Mobile and all the possessions on the left side of the Mississippi, with the exception of New Orleans, which he ceded to Spain.

The lilies of France over Fort Conde at Mobile were lowered and the British flag was raised to the music of bagpipes.

The British were now in possession of the Coast; but their rule was destined to be of short duration. On May 8, 1779, His Catholic Majesty of Spain declared war against England; and Galvez, the Provincial Governor of Louisiana, quickly commenced hostilities with his traditional enemy.

Within a space of two years Galvez forced the capitulation of every English stronghold on the River and along the Gulf Coast. Spain again came into possession of the territory of West Florida.

In the fall of 1800, Spain secretly ceded Louisiana to Napoleon, by the Treaty of San Ildefonso, Spain, however, remained in actual possession of this territory.

A diplomatic triple play was executed at New Orleans in the fall of 1803, when Louisiana went from Spain to France to the United States within the space of 20 days.

When the war of 1812 was on the horizon, Governor Claiborne sent Dr. William Flood to organize the parishes of Biloxi and Pascagoula.

On the banks of the Pearl River, Flood chose Simon Favre, an educated and prosperous farmer to serve as justice of the peace. He then moved to Bay St. Louis where he commissioned Philip Saucier, a venerable gentleman of prepossessing manners with a patriarchal influence.

The flag of the United States was raised over the Bay on the 9th of January, 1811.

Similar appointments were made at Biloxi and Pascagoula, but it was impossible to find any inhabitant of these places who could read or write.

Flood's report shows that he was a keen observer with a judgment bordering on the prophetic. Let us quote part of his report:

"They are, all along this beautiful coast, a primitive people of mixed origin; retaining the gaiety and politeness of the French, blended with the astuteness and indolence of the Indian. The people are universally honest ... a more innocent and inoffensive people may not be found ... I am greatly impressed with the beauty and value of this coast.

"The high sandy lands, heavily timbered with pine; and the lovely bays and rivers from Pearl River to Mobile will furnish New Orleans with a rich commerce, and with a delightful summer resort." (Claiborne, pp.306-7)

The American Atlas of 1823, gives the population of Hancock County as 1,594. Concerning the climate of the state, the Atlas says: "The Bay of St. Louis, in the southern part, is esteemed as one of the most healthy places in that latitude; and is the retreat for many of the citizens of New Orleans during the sickly season. (American Atlas, 1823, No. 29.)

Hancock County of which Bay St. Louis is the county seat, was established Dec. 14, 1812, during the territorial era. On Feb. 5, 1841, this county was divided and a portion of it was embodied in the newly formed County of Harrison.

Another division took place Fe. 22, 1890, when Pearl River county was established.

This settlement was originally known as Bay St. Louis. Subsequently it was called Shieldsboro, after Thomas Shields one of the early settlers.

For many years both names were used. The Mayor and Board of Aldermen, at their first meeting Jan. 4, 1858, attempted to clarify the matter by incorporating the city under the name of the City of Shieldsborough.

This evidently did not meet with general approbation; so on March 2, 1875, the first name was restored, and the city incorporated as the City of Bay St. Louis.

Cellular South announces 1999 Conerly Trophy developments

At a recent press conference, Cellular South announced new developments for the Conerly Trophy award every December to Mississippi's best college football player.

The 1999 Conerly Trophy, presented by Cellular South, represents the first time that fans will be able to vote on-line via the Internet to help determine Mississippi's best college football player.

Fan voting via the Internet will kick off at noon Sept. 4. Fans may vote for their favorite Mississippi college football player by visiting the Cellular South Web site, www.cellularsouth.com or the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and Museum Web site, [www.ms fame.com](http://www.ms fame.com).

Links will also be made available to media and universities to use on their Web sites. Voting ends Sunday, Nov. 28 at noon.

Fan votes are limited to one per email address or one per postcard.

Fan voting will be weighted proportionately with the existing media voting; fan voting will account for no more than 25 percent of the total selection process. Sports journalists from across Mississippi account for 75 percent of the selection process.

Fans who do not have Internet access may mail their vote on a postcard to arrive no later than the noon deadline Nov. 28 to the following:

Cellular South, Attn. 1999 Conerly Trophy, 125 South Congress, Suite 1000, Jackson, MS 39206

The Conerly Trophy winner will be announced at a gala event on the evening of Thursday, Dec. 2. The presentation is sponsored by Cellular South.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through Hancock and Harrison county chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sick-room supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds.

Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals.

Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

THE SEA COAST BORO—SUNDAY, AUGUST 28, 1998-9A

Area footballers look to impact PRCC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Pearl River Community College football team will take to the gridiron on September 7th when they travel to Fulton to take on Itawamba.

The Wildcats open their home schedule the next week when they host East Central on September 9th. The Wildcats will also host East Central on October 30th for their homecoming game.

Several area players will be counted on to make an impact for the Wildcats this season.

As PRCC looks to open the season, they are looking for the right mix of players to help improve on last year's 2-8 mark. Keith Daniels enters his fifth season as the Wildcats' mentor and he is excited about the possibilities of this team and his new recruits.

"As we stand right now, our new guys are a very solid group. Plus, the addition of some newcomers, things look even better," he said.

Daniels has put Mark Anderson and Deke Adams in charge of the defense, while Mike Humphreys will coach the offensive linemen after eight seasons on the defensive side of the ball.

The River returns several quality players on both sides of the ball.

The local players that are being counted on for impact play are Brandon Smith and Mark Williams of Hancock County, and Ben Guy of Bay St. Louis. Guy prepped at St. Stanislaus.

Smith is a 6-5, 245-pound offensive lineman who saw duty as a part-time starter in 1998.

Williams is a 6-3, 290-pound lineman who had some action last year but did not start any contests.

Both linemen will be counted on to help carry the load up front in the trenches.

Guy is a 6-2, 220-pound converted defensive end. Last year, he started out as a linebacker and moved to defensive end midway through the season.

Guy finished the season tied for a team high four quarter-back sacks.

Daniels stated, "We made the move with Ben Guy out of necessity, but it proved to be a good one. Ben developed into one of our top defensive players."

Tony Benton, of Bay St. Louis, will be a freshman running back/wide receiver for the Wildcats this year after graduating from Bay High School.

Benton made the All-Gulf Coast team during his senior season with the Tigers as a kick returner. The Wildcats hope that the former Bay High star can continue to make big plays for them with his speed and athletic ability.

Hancock cheerleaders attend camp

Bay High grounds Lady Hawks

The Bay High School Lady Tigers defeated the Lady Hawks at Hancock, 15-8 and 15-5, Thursday night in district volleyball action.

Ashley Ponder led Bay High with 11 points, followed by Alexis Koskan with seven for the 3-1 Lady Tigers.

In the junior varsity contest, Bay High won 15-5 and 15-4.

Bay High will host the Lady Admirals Tuesday beginning at 6 p.m.

SSC Diamond Club meeting

The St. Stanislaus Diamond Club will hold its first meeting of the school year on Tuesday, August 24th at 7pm.

The meeting will be held in the school's downstairs Conference Room.

For more information please contact head baseball coach Wil Seymour at 466-0941 or Neil Favre at 467-1407.

District Attorney P.O. Box 1180 Gulfport, Mississippi 39502 228-865-4003

August 11, 1999

Dear Citizens of Hancock County:

As the District Attorney for Hancock, Harrison and Stone Counties for over twelve years, I have been honored to work with hundreds of law enforcement officers in the district. In that time, our community has experienced enormous growth.

Keeping pace with that growth is Sheriff Ronnie Peterson. I have had the privilege to work with Ronnie Peterson for over a decade. He is a skilled, capable investigator. We rely on his expertise and knowledge of the criminal element in every case brought in Hancock County. Through the years, Sheriff Peterson has performed the hard, honest work of a policeman while adapting to the new challenges and opportunities facing law enforcement in Hancock County.

The result is the ability to enjoy growth while keeping our traditions of peace and good order. As the challenges of a growing community are addressed by Hancock County, Ronnie Peterson will continue to be one of the greatest assets we have in the fight against crime. He has served us well and deserves our thanks. With your support he can continue to serve Hancock County.

Sincerely,

Cono Caranna

10A-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, AUGUST 22, 1999

Trade openings available

Job Corps Centers in Mississippi have immediate openings available for training in health occupations, business/clerical occupations, carpentry, auto mechanics, electrical trades and plumbing.

Job Corps, a 35-year-old U.S. Department of Labor program, has trained more than 68,000 young people in one of 50 trades. At Job Corps, economically disadvantaged students ages 16 through 24 receive hands-on training, which prepares them to enter the workforce immediately.

If students do not have a high school diploma, Job Corps prepares them for GED testing.

Mississippi has three centers -- Batesville Job Corps Center, Gulfport Job Corps Center and Mississippi Job Corps Center.

A primarily residential program, Job Corps provides students with room, board and some spending money while they learn. Some centers offer non-residential programs and provide day care for students' children.

For information about joining Job Corps, call (800) 733-JOBS or visit the Job Corps national web site at www.job-corps.org.

Computer workshop

The USM Small Business Development Center is offering a two-part computer workshop, "Troubleshooting Windows 95/98" Tuesday, Sept. 28, and Thursday, Sept. 30, 4-7 p.m. at the USM Small Business Development Center Computer Resource Center, 136 Beach Park Place, Long Beach.

The "hands-on" computer workshop will teach attendees how to correct problems in Windows 95 and Windows 98 software.

The workshop fee is $100 per person in advance. To pre-pay, mail check made payable to USM SBDC to USM Small Business Development Center, 136 Beach Park Place, Long Beach, MS 39560.

For information, call 228-865-4578.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Submitted by Craig Foster
Edward Jones Co.

Don't get caught up in the '80 percent' solution

If you've read much about financial planning, you've probably come across the idea that you will need anywhere from 60 percent to 80 percent of your annual pre-retirement income for each and every year of your retirement. According to this thinking, you will need to adjust all your savings and investment strategies so that they will provide you with this "definitive" percentage.

Where do these figures come from? Actually, they're just a "common denominator" that has gained widespread acceptance. But the truth is that there is no one "right" number—or even range of numbers—for everyone. To really know what you'll need in retirement, you'll have to take into account your individual goals and your estimated expenses.

To begin with, you'll want to develop your own personal "vision." What do you see yourself doing during retirement? Will you earn income by starting your own business or by consulting? Will you purchase a second home and spend most of your time pursuing leisure activities? Will you volunteer for local civic organizations?

Your choices are almost limitless. And what you plan to do during retirement will greatly affect the savings and investment techniques you employ before you retire.

For example, you might be planning to start a consulting practice upon retiring from your present career. You know that your skills and expertise give you an excellent chance of earning a significant amount of money. Furthermore, you plan to live in your current house, which will be paid for by the time you retire. Taking these two factors together, you decide that your investments need to provide you with only a relatively small amount of your retirement income. Consequently, you feel free to take some chances with your portfolio, and you invest part of it in aggressive growth instruments, which could ultimately provide you with strong capital appreciation.

On the other hand, suppose you want to retire early and then have nothing further to do with the world of work. You also want to purchase and maintain a vacation home, in which you will live half the year. In this case, you will be counting heavily on your investments to provide you with the financial resources you require. As a result, you may need to tilt your portfolio more strongly toward investments that you can be reasonably sure will provide you with the income you need.

As you can see from these simplified scenarios, your ultimate retirement income goals should be based on your individual needs—not on an arbitrary number. So, start thinking now about the type of lifestyle you want during retirement. You may want to consult with a qualified financial professional. He or she can help you articulate your retirement vision and create a long-term strategy that is designed to meet your individual goals, investment preferences and tolerance for risk.

Louisiana Economic Symposium to be held in New Orleans Sept. 1

What does the new millennium mean for businesses in Louisiana? The first annual InSight 2000: Louisiana Economic Symposium will explore the changing economic climate and provide fresh perspectives — from national and local economic experts — on trends that are shaping the new ways in which business will be conducted.

Sponsored by Hancock Bank; Isle of Capri Casinos, Inc.; Tulane University College and WWL-TV, InSight 2000 will be held Wednesday, Sept. 1 in the Imperial Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel, 7:30 a.m. to noon.

This timely symposium features dynamic presentations by Ken Dychtwald, PhD, best selling national author of Age Wave and the soon-to-be-released Age Power; Edmond J. Seifried, PhD, national banking expert and author of Economics for Bankers and Peter F. Ricchiuti, former Wall Street broker, assistant dean and founder of the Burkenroad Investment Reports at Tulane University.

InSight 2000 will be a lively and stimulating opportunity for businesses to learn more about the immediate and long-term economic future of Louisiana and the Gulf South," states Jack Gallaway, president and COO of the Isle of Capri Casinos, Inc. "Understanding the economic climate will enable all of us to take advantage of the business opportunities the new millennium offers," he adds.

The half-day symposium begins at 8:30 a.m. with a welcome by Richard A. Marksby, PhD, Dean of Tulane University College, followed by the invocation given by Maj. General James E. Livingston, USMC (Ret.).

WWL-TV's news anchor Dennis Wolterling will serve as symposium moderator. The speakers' presentations begin at 8:45 a.m.

Peter Ricchiuti, the first speaker, will share valuable insights and information about the regional economy, the impact of recent business mergers and acquisitions, and future growth industries in his presentation "What About Us: The Gulf South, Wall Street and the 21st Century." Economist Edmond Seifried's presentation, "Economic Outlook for the New Millennium," will then focus nationally on the leading index of economic indicators as predictors of human experience and discuss the anticipated economic trends for year 2000.

The final presentation, by psychologist, gerontologist and entrepreneur Ken Dychtwald, will explain the phenomenon of the exploding 50 year old-plus market, its financial power and the impact of the longevity revolution of the Baby Boom generation on industry and the marketplace.

Dychtwald's compelling presentation, "Age Power — how the 21st Century will be ruled by the New Old," is based on his newest book by the same name, scheduled for release in early September.

"With the growing interdependence of Gulf Coast economics and business, InSight 2000 will focus on the broader perspective of regional interests and the national trends that will impact them," said George Schloegel, president of Hancock Bank.

Hancock Bank has sponsored a similar successful symposium series in Mississippi for the past 30 years. "We are pleased to be able to offer this type of high caliber business event to our customers and businesses in Louisiana," he notes.

Admission is free, but seating is limited and reservations are required. A continental breakfast for participants will begin at 7:30 a.m. For information, call toll free (800) 881-7793. To register on line visit the WWL-TV, Channel 4 website at www.wwltv.com.

Taylor to speak in Diamondhead

South Mississippi's Fifth District Congressman Gene Taylor will be the featured speaker at the general meeting of the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association at 8 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 26 at Park Ten Lanes in Diamondhead.

Reservoir -- Hancock and Harrison

The freshwater reservoir would be built on 1,429 acres of mostly federally-owned land west of Hwy. 67 in part of the DeSoto National Forest.

Estimates are it would take 10 years to build, and Mississippi Sen. Trent Lott wants to include partial funding in next year's budget, Albritton said. The first phase, a U.S. Corps of Engineers study, would update previous studies and would cost about $2 million, he said.

Besides providing a future and more reliable source of drinking water, Albritton said the reservoir would also open up more recreational activities for coast residents, in addition to spin-off businesses, such as marinas, boat sales outlets and restaurants. No homes or businesses would be displaced by construction, he said.

Albritton said the cities of Biloxi, Gulfport, and Long Beach and the Harrison County Board of Supervisors have endorsed the reservoir project, and he hoped Hancock supervisors would support the effort by resolution.

Albritton presented a slide-show to supervisors and the audience in the meeting room, and supervisors later passed a resolution endorsing the project.

The Board handled a wide range of problems and heard appeals for money in next year's budget at Monday's meeting.

- Dr. Gaynell Roberts, director of Hancock County's Community Education Program, asked supervisors to increase from $20,000 to $25,000 the county's allocation to the program next year;

- Wanda Brooks, representing the Girl Scouts and the 699 who participate in Hancock County, asked supervisors to give the scouts some kind of financial support in next year's budget;

- Authorized the county's volunteer fire departments to use $27,500 in millage they share among each other to purchase a cascade system used for refueling a compressed air system used by firefighters and to purchase another electronic repeater system to improve radio communications in Pearlman and the southern part of the county;

- Promised that county road crews would help get the parking lot and the roadway ready for the grand opening of Hancock County's Equine and Livestock Arena, scheduled for Sept. 16;

- Heard a report from Library officials predicting the new Kiln Library will open in October;

- Authorized Oliver Sahuque to spend up to $1,000 and hire someone to dig up dredge pipe left in the bayou approach to the new County Marina.

Sahuque also told supervisors there were some security problems with tenants complaining that leisure fishermen were coming onto their docked boats during the day and early in the mornings.

When supervisors got their chance to make requests:

- District 3 Supervisor Lisa

Coward said she would like monthly reports on revenue being taken in at the marina and during events at the county's Civic Center on Longfellow Drive;

- She also wants county engineer Larry Seal to set up some procedure to control requests by residents who want to cut into the seawall in order to construct a fishing pier.

- District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner said he has asked Coast Electricity to put up two more poles and add some lighting to the Gulfview ballfields.

He added that the Lakeshore Boosters Club has offered to build a concession stand if the county furnished the material. He was told if the kitchen equipment and other material exceeded $10,000 the furnishing would have to go out to public bid.

- District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour said he wants a way to put on notice those people who have tin, pilings or other debris in the water from fishing piers that were damaged last year.

Before adjourning until Tuesday, Sept. 7, supervisors declared a county holiday for Monday, Sept. 6, in observance of Labor Day.

I truly wish to thank all of the people that I met with during this election season, for letting me come to your home to introduce myself and meet with you on a personal basis. I humbly ask that on Tuesday, August 24th you vote for the man that truly will be involved in our communities, our school systems, and who will also be available to the people on a 24 hour basis.

Runoff -- both parties

Garber, a former deputy sheriff, rolled up 4,198 votes in the primary compared to Peterson's 3,744. But, there were three other Democrats in that race, and Peterson in recent weeks has picked up support from one of them, Don Watson, who collected over 400 votes.

He has also gained the endorsement of Cono Carranna, longtime District Attorney for Hancock, George and Harrison counties.

Peterson is taking out ads in the Echo touting his years and experience in office, with the slogan, "If It Ain't Broke, Don't Fix It!"

Garber is promising a "new era" in law enforcement, and his strong running in the primary came from the northern part of the county.

The winner will face Republican and former Bay St. Louis Police Chief Ray Murphy in November.

The race for the Tax Assessor/Collector spot vacated with the retirement of Eddie Murtagh also promises to be a nail-biter.

Lakeshore businessman Jimmie Ladner Jr., led a three-person pack in the Democratic primary, racking up 3,951 votes. Close behind with 3,382 votes was veteran deputy tax collector Carolyn Maurigi Adam. Joe Bermond ran third, collecting 887 votes.

The winner of the Democratic nomination will face Murtagh's chief tax appraiser and the Republican nominee, F. Lee Bennett, in November.

Incumbent Democratic Supervisor Philip Moran will do battle with young upstart Jay Cuevas in order to maintain his District 5 seat on the Board of Supervisors.

Moran led the primary of four candidates, racking up 776 votes, and Cuevas was not too far behind with 556. Political newcomer Jody Compretta collected 429 votes and Rick Fair, 137, to force the runoff.

The Democratic nominee will face Republican Dave Depreo in November. Depreo narrowly lost to Moran four years ago.

The Justice Court West seat vacated by retiring Judge Lee Klein drew nine candidates in the primary, but now only two are left to battle for the Democratic nomination.

Tommy Carver led the primary with 759 votes, with Paula Ladner Fayard not too far behind with 573 votes. The winner of the nomination will face Republican Harry Ward in November.

In the Constable East race, longtime incumbent Leo Ladner will face Danny Hamby for the Democratic nomination. In the primary, Ladner led with 1,730 votes, with Hamby taking 1,413. Two other candidates in that primary together amassed almost 1,000 votes to force the runoff.

The winning Democratic nominee will face Republican nominee Linda Buckley and independent candidate Scott Duncan in November.

In the race for Constable West, newcomer Eric Moran led incumbent Gary L. Bennett 1,476 to 1,444 in the primary. Two other candidates gathered almost 1,000 votes to force the runoff.

In statewide races, there is only one runoff to determine the Democratic nominee for Public Service Commissioner. Michael Callahan led a field of five in the primary with 2,607 votes. He will face Henry "Buck" Bucklew, who gathered 1,712 votes.

Tax

Kellar said the suggestion to provide the service came at the request of some taxpayers and attorneys.

As it now stands, delinquent taxpayers in Waveland must go to City Hall to pay city taxes. Bay St. Louis citizens have to pay school taxes at City Hall, and county taxes owed by anyone must be paid at the courthouse.

Before adjourning its recess meeting Monday, supervisors set a public hearing at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 7 on the proposed budget for the coming fiscal year.

A message from STEVE GARBER Candidate For Sheriff Hancock County

In response to the most recent political ad run by my opponent I would like to give the "FACTS" of my qualifications and experience in law enforcement.

1. I was a full-time law enforcement officer serving the people of Hancock County for 14 years with the Sheriff's office in accordance with MS code 45-6-3.
2. I was also elected by the citizens of Hancock County to serve as their constable in the West District for 4 years.
3. I graduated from the USM/Gulf Park law Enforcement Officers Training Academy.
4. National Rifle Association police fire arms expert
5. Classes and training include: Criminal Justice, finger printing, evidence collection, management of a crime scene, courtroom testimony, domestic violence, and vehicle accident report and investigation.

As a full time Law Enforcement officer of Hancock County I was assigned to the Northside of Interstate 10 for the past 12 years. After serving the people of this district I received 64% of the vote (in the district) in a 5-man race for Sheriff of Hancock County. I have responded to: armed robberies, burglaries, thefts, murders, suicides, vehicle accidents, rapes, drug cases, domestic violence and juvenile cases. I have also testified in court and assisted in case files on many cases.

When elected, I will bring to this office not only modern law enforcement, but also honesty and integrity making YOU the public proud of your Sheriff and the office.

Hancock Citizens deserve no less!!!

Glossy Abelia deserves appreciation, attention

By Norman Winter
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

SOUTHERN GARDENING

Very few people know anything about abelia, but it has some outstanding qualities worthy of consideration in Mississippi landscapes.

Consider this, they bloom for months with clusters of flowers, the foliage is attractive and they have no pests. This should put this delightful shrub at the top of the list for those desiring a low maintenance garden.

Most people have never heard of an abelia, but it is related to viburnums, honeysuckle and weigela. The abelia has a graceful arching habit suited for the shrub border and planted in mass. The glossy reddish foliage is attractive, and the plant is among the most pest-free shrubs for sale. Taller varieties are well suited to use as a screen for privacy.

The relationship to honeysuckle is meaningful to those who like gardens for hummingbirds and butterflies. They are a preferred nectar source to swallowtail butterflies and hummingbirds. The foliage and arching habit both make the abelia a nice combination plant with ornamental grasses like the purple fountain.

Plant abelia in full sun for best blooming. Prepare the bed for abelias by incorporating three to four inches of organic matter and two pounds of a 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 square feet of planting area, tilling deeply. Dig the planting hole three to five times as wide as the rootball but no deeper. Place the abelia in the hole and backfill with soil to two-thirds the depth. Tamp the soil and water to settle, add the remaining backfill, repeat the process and apply mulch.

Even though some may consider abelias among the top plants in durability, they will still need managing while they establish. We want those roots to go from the rootball to the adjacent soil and become at home in your landscape. This takes water and all shrubs will need this during the first year. This is also one of the reasons we horticultural types promote fall planting so much. Fall is the time when top growth has ceased but roots really take off.

After your plants are established, there is not much required. Feed in late winter with a light application of a balanced fertilizer (8-8-8) per plant equaling one pound per 100 square feet of planted area. Your happiness with the abelia may well depend on pruning. In late winter, prune one-third of the old canes at the base of the plant. The arching habit is welcome in the landscape. Maintain an even supply of moisture during prolonged dry spells.

Edward Goucher, a hybrid with lilac flowers from June until September, is one of the most popular varieties in Mississippi. The glossy green foliage turns a shiny bronze in the fall. It is the result of a cross of A. grandiflora and A. schumannii by Edward Goucher with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1911.

Other abelia grandifloras to try include Francis Mason with variegated foliage and pink flowers; and Prostrata, a fragrant, white-flowered, 3-foot tall spreading type. This year a new one called Sunrise made its debut. It has white flowers and green foliage with margins that are gold to creamy yellow. The Sunrise name comes into play by the change in fall leaf color. The leaves turn shades of yellow, orange and red.

If you plant some, you will probably start to ask yourself the question, why did I wait so long?

* * *

Our long growing season lends itself to enjoying exotic flowers from tropical regions of the world. A coffee relative, Ixora, is a jungle-type plant that is ideal for porches or patios.

The Ixora has been around, but in fairly small quantities. This year, I have been getting phone calls about the plant, so I decided to give you a little more information. Ixora is also known as "jungle geranium" and "Flame in the Woods," and is actually an evergreen shrub with glossy green leaves and grows easily in containers, giving us nearly non-stop blooms during the warm months.

Ixora prefers moist acidic soil. During the growing season, feed every two weeks with a complete fertilizer for acidic plants that contains minor nutrients. Feed monthly during the winter. The minor nutrients are important to maintain healthy foliage. Growers' biggest complaint is leaves that develop a yellowish color. The regular fertilization will take care of this.

Keep well-watered during the summer. If you want to keep for extended enjoyment, remember to take them indoors before freezing weather. Once indoors, the water and fertilization can be cut way back. Don't forget that the leading cause of death of houseplants is overwatering. If bringing indoors for the winter, do so gradually.

Watch out for rock-a-chaws, gators and furniture

Editor's note: Dr. Floyd A. Bubba is not a licensed, practicing therapist, but has received degrees in analytical psychology and marksmanship from the prestigious Freud-Heston Institute for Analytical Psychology and Marksmanship, where their motto is "Guns don't kill people, crazy people with guns kill people. And they gotta have bullets, too, and all that stuff. But, you know, it's mainly the crazy people. Shut up."

Dear Dr. Bubba: My boss recently gave me a new office chair, and it's one of those kinds with the hydraulic cylinder that'll let you raise or lower the seat at the press of a lever. Here's my problem: Every time I sit down in that sucker, it automatically lowers, practically dropping me in the floor and making all my co-workers laugh their butts off at my expense. Now obviously, this irritates me, but I'm not sure if my boss was intentionally trying to lower my self-esteem (along with my behind), or if it was just an honest attempt to give me something nice to show he appreciates me and then the gift turned out to be faulty. What do you think I should do? Feeling a Little Sore in Alabama.

Dear Sore: Well, my first instinct would be to tell ya to ph. I don't know. PAY SOME BODY. TA SLAP THE PORK-CHOPS OUTTA YER MOUTH!! Either that or git over it, lard-butt. I'm purty hefty myself, but ya don't see me goin' around whinin' about it.

Dear Dr. Bubba: I understand you, being a Yankee from Kentucky discovered the true meaning of the word "rock-a-chaw." After fighting them, how do you rid yourself of the sting? Bet you don't know, Kentucky boy. Wait until you find out what a "gator" is! Unsigned in Mississippi.

Dear Unsigned: Well, first of all, I gotta explain ta my more northerly readers (basically, any of y'uns above the ocean) what yer talkin' about, since we ain't got such mutant species at home. A rock-a-chaw, it turns out, is like what we call a burr, but like with fangs and a major bad attitude, and maybe a little distemper and rabies, thrown into the mix. Apparently, they grow just about anywhere, and are especially fond of gnawin' on big fat Kentucky boys. As fer yer question about the Sung, well, I've hated that guy ever since he left the Police. And I know what ia gator is. That's the little critter on all my shirts.

Well, that's about all the space they'll give me fer this nonsense this week, kids. Keep them cards an' letters pourin' in, do this here newspaper, AND MAKE SURE TA PUT SOME CASH IN 'EM THIS TIME!! I'll see y'all next week. In the meantime, watch out fer them there gators.

They usually got one o' them yuppies attached.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Joseph Rillens Lee II

Lee-O'Brien

Erin Allison O'Brien of Waveland, and Joseph Rillens Lee II, also of Waveland, were united in marriage June 12, 1999, in an afternoon ceremony in St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland, with the Reverend Noel Fannon officiating.

Soloist was Sandra Rhodes; organist, Alana Grantham. Adding a special Irish custom was Mr. Jack Lander who played the bag pipes as the bride was escorted by her father to be given in marriage.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Carol Estave O'Brien of Waveland and Mr. Thomas O'Brien of New Orleans.

The groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee of Waveland. For the occasion the bride selected a designer gown of ivory silk satin. The gown had a sleeveless squared neckline on a rounded drop waist and featured a multi-pleated ball gown skirt. A fully pleated chapel train flowed from a cluster of silk satin roses at the back waistline. Her waist-length tulle veil was scattered with seed pearls and fell from a tiara accented with pearls and stones. She carried a hand-tied clutch in white and ivory consisting of bianca roses and stephanotis. The blossoms were gathered together and wrapped in satin, accented with pearl studs.

Maid of honor was Letty Boelte of Pearlington. Bridesmaids included Amy Lee, Laura Felder, Kristen Selle, Monique Natal, all of Waveland; Michelle Redditt of Pass Christian; Caroline Renfro of Lafayette, La., and Kate Millican of Dallas, Texas. They wore ivory crepe designer gowns each with an ivory and pink tulle train.

Flower girls were Kaitlin Collins, Caroline Collins and Mary Michael Collins, all of Bay St. Louis; and Balus Lee of Waveland. Ring bearer was Gex Billups of Bay St. Louis.

Best man was Michael Lee of Waveland, and groomsmen included Patrick Lee of Waveland, Walter Billups and Stephen Cuevas, both of Bay St. Louis; Douglas Rhodes and Emile Babin III, both of New Orleans; Hunter Graham of Mandeville; and M. J. Rhodes of Birmingham, Ala.

Ushers were Thomas O'Brien Jr. of Waveland; Michael Collins of Bay St. Louis; Jeffrey Pajuk of Ocean Springs; and Cary Lee of Opelousas, La.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Pass Christian Yacht Club with music by Dr. Rock and the Interns.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Tory's on the Green.

A bridesmaids luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Gerald Boelte at her home in Pearlington.

There was a groomsmen luncheon at the Dock of the Bay hosted by M. J. Rhodes, Michael Lee, Patrick Lee and Emile Babin III.

After a honeymoon in St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands, the couple will reside in Mobile, Ala.

Military Mentions

PO3 SMITH

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Robert S. Smith, grandson of H. A. Torgersen of Bay St. Louis, recently completed the second phase of Cooperation Afloat Readiness and Training 1999 (CARAT '99) while on a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian oceans aboard the tank landing ship USS Frederick, homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

CARAT Singapore '99 is a bilateral exercise with navies from the Association of Southeast National (ASEAN) countries, including Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand.

Purpose of CARAT '99 is to bolster U.S.-ASEAN military and diplomatic relations through combined Naval training that stresses advanced tactics in air, surface, undersea and amphibious warfare.

AIRMAN SAUCIER

Mary L. Saucier has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Saucier, a dental assistant apprentice, is assigned to the 2nd Dental Squadron, Barksdale Air Force Base, Bossier City, La.

She is the daughter of Cynthia M. and Paul J. Saucier of Bay St. Louis.

In 1996, Saucier graduated from Bay High School.

Richardson-Sones

Clark C. Richardson of Pass Christian and Meg M. Richardson of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Julie L. Richardson, to Christopher L. Sones, son of Henry and Gayla Sones of Bay St. Louis.

The bride-elect attended Bay High School and is employed with Styling Station Salon.

The prospective groom also attended Bay High School and is employed with Ladner Construction.

The wedding will take place Saturday, Sept. 11, 1999 at 4 p.m. in Red Creek Inn and Vineyard in Long Beach.

Jane Amos knew that she had to lose a lot of weight to find herself again. But more than that, to save her life. Like so many, she tried countless diets and medications. Their failure led to her depression and her fear of heart attack and stroke. Then Jane discovered the "Live Light" Surgical Weight Loss Program at Gulf Coast Medical Center. As part of the Weight Management Center, "Live Light" has helped Jane live a more active life. And if you ask us, it's a lifestyle that fits her quite nicely.

This testimonial reflects the results achieved by this patient. As each case is different and must be independently evaluated and managed, weight loss will vary.

ATTENTION Kmart SHOPPERS

On the front page of our Kmart August 22, 1999 Weekly Ad Circular, Girl's Rider carpenter jeans is incorrectly stated as Reg. 14.99, Sale Price 11.99. The correct price should read Reg. Price 18.99, Sale Price 14.99. We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused our customers.

Kmart presents March of Dimes with largest single donation

A record $4.5 million contribution from Kmart associates of the March of Dimes means the retailer continues its reign as the No. 1 National WalkAmerica Team into the year 2000. The $4.5 million donation is the single largest contribution in WalkAmerica history.

Kmart associates in the state collected approximately $32,000 for the Mississippi Chapter of the March of Dimes. The largest contributions came from stores in Southaven with roughly $8,650 for the March of Dimes North Division; the store in Jackson raised nearly $5,500 for the chapter's Central Division; and the store in Hattiesburg donated about $3,232 for the March of Dimes Coast Division.

Kmart's nationwide also raised more than $3.6 million through "sneaker sales" — paper sneakers sold to customers for $1 and used to wallpaper Kmart stores across the country.

Through the years, Kmart associates have contributed more than $24 million to the March of Dimes through WalkAmerica.

"Kmart's support of WalkAmerica is unprecedented," said Tony C. Choppe, national director of WalkAmerica. "As the No. 1 team for the past 15 consecutive years, Kmart associates and customers are making a difference in the lives of families right in the communities where they live and work."

WalkAmerica, the nation's oldest walking event, raised more than $79 million this year to help fund research to prevent birth defects, low birthweight babies and infant mortality. More than one million volunteers participated in 1,400 communities across the country. To date, March of Dimes WalkAmerica has raised more than $1 billion to help save babies' lives.

"I am honored to be a member of the Kmart team and proud of the enormous efforts put forth by Kmart associates," said Kathy Ireland, 1999 Honorary WalkAmerica Chair. Kmart and the March of Dimes raised more than $1,000 in Waveland, $625 in Gulfport and $2,547 in Biloxi.

The March of Dimes is a voluntary health agency whose mission is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality.

Founded in 1938, the March of Dimes funds programs of research, community services, education and advocacy to save babies.

For information, visit the March of Dimes on the World Wide Web at www.modimes.org.

Local Girl Scout goes to Canada

This year Natalie R. Fields of Troop 254 in Bay St. Louis, along with nine other girls and two adults of the Girl Scouts of Gulf Pines Council, were selected to take part in "Canadian Mosaic '99" along with 3,343 Canadian and international participants representing member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts.

The girls, along with advisors Jeanne Tagge of Pass Christian and Carole Stuart of Ocean Springs, left Hattiesburg July 6 and returned July 24.

The international outdoor event took place in four sites — Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick and the Yukon.

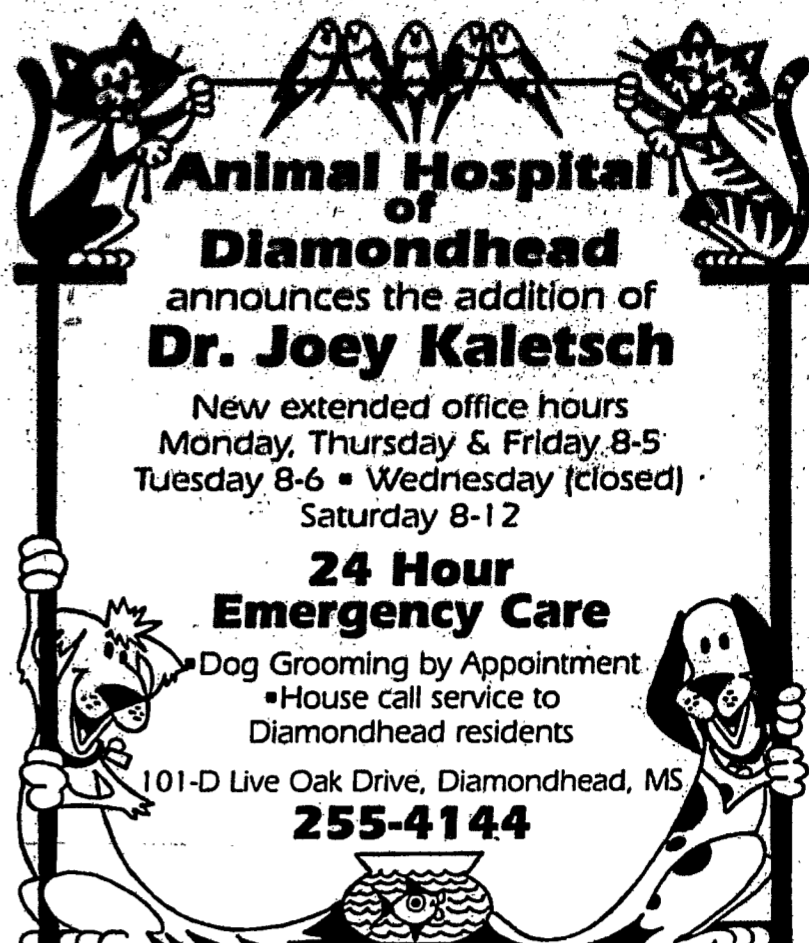

The theme of Canadian Mosaic '99, "Footprints in Time," provided the girls with the opportunity to acknowledge the past, build on the present and chart the future.

As an all-female organization CM '99 promoted fun, friendship, adventure, challenge and international understanding.

CM '99 highlights the organization's emphasis on the natural environment and personal growth and offers participants the opportunity to develop skills associated with outdoor pursuits and activities such as backpacking, canoeing, rock climbing, kayaking, horseback riding and adventure cooking.

Projects included building a gazebo, renovating a chapel, upgrading a nature trail, supporting a women's shelter, cleaning up parks and other spaces, along with a variety of entertainment.

Hancock County Republican Women's Club

The next meeting of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club will be a VIP luncheon meeting Thursday, Sept. 9 at 11:30 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The business meeting will be brief. Guest of honor and guest speaker will be Stephanie Panches, Republican National Committee Woman of the State of Mississippi.

In addition, all of our elected, local candidates are invited to join as guests. There will be a hospitality hour until 12:15 p.m. to meet and visit with them.

Reservations are a must. Husbands and other guests are invited. Phone for reservations immediately to 255-8119 or to 467-1286. Send checks to Republican Women's Club, P.O. Box 6382, Diamondhead, MS 39525 or hand-carry to treasurer Brinsmade's home. Receipt of the check will be considered confirmation of the reservation. Cost is $13 per person, including tip and tax.

Remember to vote on Tuesday, Aug. 24, 7 a.m.-7 p.m. in the Primary Election Runoff.

The annual countywide Republican Cook-out will be Saturday afternoon, Sept. 18 at the Bay St. Louis home of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Martinolich at 599 Seube Street with oodles of fried chicken, music and "down-home" friendliness.

Senator Thad Cochran is guest of honor. Cost is $6 per person. Buy advance tickets from any club member, at the VIP luncheon Sept. 9, or pay at the door.

"Don't miss this delightful, annual event," said publicity chairman Marta Sweeney.

TOPS WAVELAND 233

TOPS MS 233 met Tuesday, Aug. 17 at the Waveland Public Library. Best TOPS loser was Bev with 2.75 pounds. Best KOPS loser was Kathy. The incentive award was won by Judy, and the gift was won by Charlotte.

The ARD meeting will be Saturday, Sept. 11 in Pascagoula. Members are asked to bring their crafts for the crafts sale. Bev presented a program on walking and the importance of properly fitting shoes.

TOPS MS 233 meets every Tuesday at the Waveland Public Library. Weigh-ins are from 5-5:45 p.m. with the meeting following.

Anyone interested in losing weight the sensible way and maintaining that weight loss is welcome to visit the TOPS chapter. Interested persons are invited to call Pat at 467-6285.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

A simple three-letter word that'll help shed weight

As anyone who's lost and regained weight can attest, 'diet' is a four-letter word that leads to trouble.

"A 'diet' is only a temporary fix, something you go on and off without making permanent changes in habits," said Carolyn Kinabrew, a representative of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly). "And it feels like something you're doing to yourself -- like, say, getting a root canal."

Instead, said Kinabrew, "choose to use a simple three-letter word to describe your new direction. That word is for. You're doing something for yourself."

And do it right, Kinabrew added, offering these tips.

- For a revved-up metabolism, exercise daily.
- For the nutrition your body needs, cut excess fats and increase your consumption of fresh, unprocessed foods.
- For the encouragement you'll need through the challenge of sensible weight loss, consider joining your nearest TOPS chapter.

To learn more about TOPS and to locate the chapter nearest you, call Carolyn Kinabrew at 228-388-1916 or toll-free at 1-800-932-8677, or log on to TOPS' Web site at www.tops.org for that information along with weight-loss tips, facts and success stories.

'You can't save crippled people in a storm!'

(This is the seventh in a series of eight stories tracing the death and destruction caused by Hurricane Camille on the Mississippi Gulf Coast in 1969.)

The stories are based on interviews conducted with survivors a decade after the storm by the University of Southern Mississippi Oral History Program, currently directed by Dr. Charles Bolton. The interviewer was E. Wayne Pyle of USM.)

By Phil Hearn
PASS CHRISTIAN -- The old folks refused to leave.

Hurricane Camille was moving through the Gulf toward this Mississippi coastal city with winds and tidal waves of unprecedented force and size -- but the old folks wouldn't budge from their Pass Christian home.

Jon Dambrink, Piet Stegenga's stepfather, was 84 years old. Relatives said he was "feeble minded" long before that dreadful night of Aug. 17.

1969. They called him "Pops." Mother Dambrink, Piet's mother, suffered from "arthritis in her spine" and had been "bedridden for two years in a wheelchair." She asked for a sleeping pill about 7:30 p.m. and went to bed.

"I'm going to sleep it out," she said.

Piet's sister, Elizabeth Stegenga, affectionately known as "Sis," then in her 40s, tended to the old couple night and day.

She was devoted to them. She would stay with them -- as would half-brother John Dambrink Jr., known as "Joey."

Piet, a 58-year-old civil service worker at Biloxi's Keeler Air Force Base, and his 53-year-old wife, Valena, a native of DeLisle, lived nearby in Pass Christian. They also planned to ride out the storm in the elderly couple's home.

"I'm going to have to stay with them or drown with them ...," Piet told his boss earlier that day. "These people are crippled. You can't save crippled people in a storm."

Piet, Valena and Joey survived the storm, which literally tore the Dambrink house apart. Sis and the old folks died.

Ten years later, during a 1979 interview with the University of Southern Mississippi Oral History Program, the Stegengas told the terrifying story.

As the hurricane hit, Sis, Piet and Joey were in the kitchen drinking coffee. Pops had gone to bed, and Valena had taken a cup of coffee to Mother Dambrink. Valena told it this way:

"I was in there with her and, all of a sudden, water started coming in on the floor. So honey, the first thing I knew, I looked up the hall and the water was about a foot deep in the hall. Then it came on into the bedroom.

"The water kept coming up and I heard him hollering, the old man, hollering. And I went and I looked and Piet, my husband, and Sis, his sister, was trying to get him."

Getting his stepfather outside, Piet tried to put him on top of his sister's car.

"I couldn't get him off of me -- and I lost him," Piet explained. I said, 'This is my own dear life now,' and I was by myself. And I was swimming, I was pushing stuff away, and I got on a pile of trash and I stayed there.

"Then, I looked up and a telephone pole split right like a match. A tornado hit it and just like a match, it popped it right off, just cut it like you would cut it with a knife."

Valena said as the water inside the house floated a mattress to within a couple of feet of the ceiling, Joey reached Mother Dambrink, "took her in this arms" and told her to "hold tight."

Unable to swim, yelling for help, Valena managed to stay afloat by catching onto furniture and floating debris. Amazingly, she was reunited with Piet in the maelstrom as she "prayed so hard that is seemed like I could see Jesus."

Together, Piet and Valena, pulled by wind-driven rain and totally disoriented, clung to a piece of plywood until the following morning. Then, recognizing the home of neighbor Irene Cock, they made their way over there, where they received a "drink of whiskey" and cigarettes.

"And that's how we came out of there ...," said Piet. "My half-brother was (found alive but) hanging up in a pine tree."

The bodies of Pops, Mother Dambrink and Sis were not found until about a week after the storm.

"I had nightmares of that for years ...," said Valena.

Local attorneys participate in Law School Orientation on Professionalism

Bay St. Louis attorney Patricia H. Willis and Waveland attorney Ronald J. Artigues Jr. were facilitators in the Mississippi Bar's Law School Orientation on Professionalism last week.

"With the help of Mississippi lawyers and judges, we hope to emphasize the importance of professionalism through this new program for first year law school students," said Jimmy Dukes, Mississippi Bar president.

The Mississippi Bar's Law School Orientation on Professionalism program took place at orientation sessions at the University of Mississippi and Mississippi College Schools of Law the week of Aug. 16-20.

"The inaugural Orientation on Professionalism exceeded our expectations," said Old Miss Law School Dean Samuel M. Davis. "I was extremely gratified to see the number of lawyers and judges who freely gave of their time to meet with our law students to discuss professionalism issues."

Over 200 lawyers and judges statewide were nominated by peers in their profession to serve as facilitators for the program. Nominees were considered as respected individuals who consistently uphold the legal and ethical obligations required by a law career.

Mississippi College School of Law Dean Sid Moller said,

Gulfside Assembly hosts appreciation anniversary service

Coast Chorale announces auditions

The Coast Chorale will have auditions Tuesday, Aug. 24 and Tuesday, Aug. 31, 6:30 p.m. at Trinity Church in Pass Christian.

USM offers homeschooling workshop

The University of Southern Mississippi will offer a workshop on "Homeschooling: Keys to Success" 9-11 a.m. Aug. 28 at Main Street Baptist Church on Hwy. 98 West in Hattiesburg.

The workshop will teach parents, educators and other interested individuals ways to maximize homeschooling effectiveness through the essential components of a dynamic home education program.

Cost is $25 per person or $35 per couple.

Instructor is Dr. Trudy H. Abel, an educator with teaching and homeschooling experience.

For information or to register, call Abel or Caroline Barnes at (601) 794-8450.

OFFICE OF POLLUTION CONTROL

CATEGORICAL EXCLUSION FROM ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW

Hancock Water & Sewer District
Hancock County, Mississippi
Wastewater Collection System
SRF-C280760-03
August 11, 1999

All projects funded under the Mississippi Water Pollution Control Revolving Fund Act undergo a review to determine whether the proposed project will have a significant impact on the environment. In making this determination, it is assumed that all of the facilities and actions recommended in the facilities plan will be implemented.

The proposed project includes 19,400 L.F. of 8" conventional gravity sewer, 28,000 L.F. of 1 1/4" to 6" low pressure force main, 30,000 L.F. of 8" to 12" force main, 7 new pump stations, upgrading the pumps of two existing pump stations, and 1480 grinder pump stations.

The Mississippi Office of Pollution Control has determined that the proposed project meets criteria for receiving a categorical exclusion from further environmental review. However, this determination can be revoked if significant adverse information becomes available. If you have any comments regarding the proposed project, please send them to Isik Sebuktekin, Office of Pollution Control, P.O. Box 10385, Jackson, Mississippi 39289-0385, phone (601) 961-5111 no later than September 20, 1999.

Public Notice

IN THE CHANCERY COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF
ANITA VILLA LABLANC, DECEASED
BY: BRIAN J. PRENDERGAST, Administrator

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
Letters Testamentary having been granted on the 29th day of July, 1989, by the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, to the undersigned Administrator, Administrator of the Estate of ANITA VILLA LABLANC, deceased, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the clerk of this court for probate and mailing according to the law within ninety (90) days from the date of this publication of this notice or they will be forever barred.
This is the 30th day of July, 1989.
BRIAN J. PRENDERGAST, Administrator
8/15, 8/22, 8/29, 9/5/89

Notice to All Water and Gas customers:
The City will be starting a new billing procedure beginning September 15th, 1989. One half of the customer's bill will be billed on the 15th of each month and the other half at the end of the month, which is the normal billing cycle.

In order to divide the city in half, everyone living on the south side of the railroad tracks will receive a bill on the 15th of each month starting September 15th and the other half of the people living on the north side of the railroad tracks will receive a bill on the 1st of each month as they have in the past. Those customers living on the south side will receive one bill from September 1st through September 15th. After they receive their September 15th bill, all of their residents on the south side of the tracks will continue to receive a monthly bill on the 15th of each month.

The overall purpose of this procedural change is to split the city in half, provide city services every week and split the office workload in two different segments.

Gulf Islands celebrates Founder's Day

Gulf Islands National Seashore Superintendent Jerry Eubanks announced that Founder's Day, Tuesday, Aug. 25, would be celebrated in both the Florida and Mississippi districts of the Seashore.

Founder's Day will be a fee-free day for visitors entering the Fort Pickens and Perdido Key areas. The normal $6 per vehicle entrance fee will be waived.

The fee-free day only applies to entrance fee areas and does not include fees for camping, which will be charged as usual.

For frequent visitors to the Fort Pickens and Perdido Key areas, an annual Gulf Islands National Seashore entrance pass can be purchased for $20.

This pass allows the purchaser unlimited fee entrance to these areas during the 12-month period. The Golden Eagle Passport, which allows free entrance to most National Park areas that charge an entrance fee, is also sold at the Seashore for $50 per year.

Two other permits (the Golden Age Passport issued to senior citizens for a one-time fee of $10 and the Golden Access Passport that is free for disabled persons) are also available.

Both offer 50 percent off user fees as well as free entrance to most National Park areas that charge an entrance fee.

The Mississippi district concessionaire, Ship Island Excursions, will observe Founder's Day by offering reduced tour boat fares to Ship Island for the day. Adults may go to the island for $14 instead of the regular $16 fare; seniors and military for $13 instead of $14; and children (ages 3-10) will be admitted for $7 instead of the regular $8 fare.

Local residents are encouraged to be "a tourist for a day" and enjoy one of the area's most popular attractions.

Boats depart from Gulfport Yacht Harbor at 9 a.m. and noon. Return boats leave Ship Island at 2:30 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Passengers may return on either boat, arriving back on the mainland at 3:40 p.m. or 6:10 p.m.

For detailed tour boat information, contact Ship Island Excursions at 1-800-338-3290.

Gulf Islands National Seashore is now in the August Activities schedule. Call the Visitor Center in Florida at (850) 934-2600 to get more information on programs such as Daily Fort Tours and the Full Moon Walk on Aug. 26.

The Visitor Center in Mississippi at (228) 875-9057 can provide you with information about special Sunday programs on how weather influences the life on the Mississippi Coast.

Two daily tours of Fort Massachusetts on West Ship Island continue during this last month of summer.

Fais Do Do dance contest at Audubon Zoo

Beginning Sept. 1, couples may register for the Fais Do Do Dance Contest, held in conjunction with the Audubon Zoo's 15th anniversary Swamp Fest.

Contestants can register at the Audubon Zoo's Swamp Exhibit. There is no entry fee. Registrants will receive numbers to wear for identification.

The first round of the contest will be Sunday, Sept. 4 at 2 p.m. Contestants will dance to the sounds of live zydeco music. Contestants must register for each weekend.

For the next three consecutive weekends, the qualifying rounds will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Louisiana Swamp Fais Do do Dance Hall.

Each weekend there will be a separate contest, with three new finalists selected by a panel of judges.

On the first weekend, Oct. 3, the finalists will proceed to the final round of the contest. At 11 a.m. the judges will pick the first, second and third place winners.

First prize winners will receive two round trip air fares from Southwest Airlines and a family membership to the Zoo and Aquarium.

Second place winners receive jazz cruise and dinner on the John James Audubon and family membership to the Zoo and the Aquarium.

Third place winners receive family memberships to the Zoo and Aquarium.

The winners will have the honor of opening the festival's final day, Sunday, Oct. 10, with the first dance.
